

UniReady Enabling Program: Parent/Guardian Permission Form

UniReady Enabling Program

The UniReady Enabling Program is a free academic program designed to get students ready for undergraduate study at UTS. Building on existing strengths and successes, UniReady will help students to develop their knowledge of the university environment, its academic expectations as well as developing their academic literacy and research skills. All students who successfully complete the UniReady Enabling program will receive an offer to study at UTS in one of our undergraduate courses.

For more information, including program dates, please consult our website (www.uts.edu.au/uniready).

Course fees

The UniReady Enabling Program is free, supported by the Australian Government's 'FEE-FREE Uni Ready Courses' initiative. All students in the UniReady Enabling Program will enrol in a Commonwealth Supported Place (CSP), which are university places subsidised by the Australian Government. Please read the FEE-FREE Uni Ready Course - Commonwealth Supported Place information booklet for details on FEE-FREE Uni Ready subsidised places at <https://www.studyassist.gov.au/>.

Students won't need to make any student contributions or access HECS-HELP, or pay the Student Service and Amenities Fee (SSAF) for the UniReady Enabling Program. There may, however, be non-tuition fees and other expenses associated with studying.

Student Rules

The UTS Student Rules apply to all students of the University, including those in the UniReady Enabling Program. Each student has individual responsibility to comply with the Act, the By-law, these Rules, and the codes of conduct, policies, procedures, directives, guidelines and any other form of regulation of the University and relevant external authorities. Each student is required to acknowledge, by means of a signed statement or electronic confirmation, his or her agreement to comply with them. You can review the Student Rules on the UTS website at: <https://www.uts.edu.au/about/leadership-governance/governance/rules/student-rules>

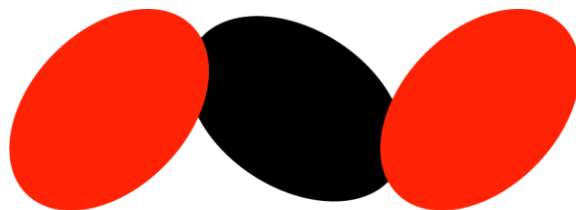

Privacy

The University of Technology Sydney will collect and use student's information when they enrol and participate in the UniReady Enabling program. As a student of UTS, the UTS Student Privacy notice applies. Refer to our privacy at UTS website for further information about privacy at UTS, including our privacy contacts.
