Study Abroad and Exchange at UTS: Law

As a study abroad or exchange student, you may design a program of subjects from more than one faculty at UTS, provided you enrol in 24 credit points of full-time study.

Law subjects are either 6 or 8 credit points each. In other faculties at UTS, however, subjects are offered at different credit point levels, so it is important to make sure that you satisfy the credit point requirements when choosing your subjects.

What can I study?

> Study abroad and exchange is available:
>  > Autumn session (March – June) A
>  > Spring session (August – November) S

> Prerequisites apply to certain subjects:
>  > Subjects included in this guide have pre-requisites marked with an *(asterisk) If you are enrolled in a law degree at your home university, these will waived for the subjects on this list. If you are not enrolled in a law degree at your home university, you will satisfy pre-requisites by completing one of Options A-E in your first session.
>  > Undergraduate study abroad students are normally permitted to study postgraduate subjects
>  > For further details on subjects, including prerequisite knowledge, refer to the UTS Handbook at www.handbook.uts.edu.au

> For additional Electives and Specialisations please see here http://www.uts.edu.au/future-students/law/course-experience/subjects-offered

> For availability of subjects, check the timetable at http://timetable.uts.edu.au Some subjects are offered in one session only.
