The Gaussian Distribution: its mean and its standard deviation.
Primary education students complete significant teaching and learning experiences in educational contexts every semester, every year of their degree. The UTS professional experience program (practicum) engages students in two interlinked elements:

> Campus based studies examining the range of learning issues, skills and procedures which assist the development of good professional practice, and
> Field experiences where students are placed in schools and other educational settings for practical engagement in a variety of teaching/learning interactions

Students may also apply to undertake an international professional experience program in Thailand, China or Samoa in their second or third year.

Primary Education students complete 80 days of professional experience with schools or organisations during their degree.

KEY FEATURES

The key features of our professional experience program are:

> A three-way partnership between the students, cooperating teachers and our lecturers
> A sequence of experiences which build upon earlier teaching / learning achievements and articulate with other aspects of students’ course work
> An emphasis on continuing reflection and self-evaluation as integral to teaching as a professional activity
> The development of students’ ability to diagnose, negotiate and act upon what is observed and experienced in and beyond classrooms
> Each professional experience placement sees key competencies linked with students’ learning on campus, accentuated, practised and analysed

*Study undertaken for a major study will be equivalent to a total of three-quarters of a year of successful full-time higher education study, usually comprising sequential discipline study taken over three years. In most programs, this equates to six units, with no more than two at first-year level and no fewer than two units at third-year level.

#Study undertaken for a minor study will be equivalent to a total of half a year of successful full-time higher education study, usually comprising sequential discipline study taken over two years. In most programs, this equates to four units, with no more than two at first year level.

These standards refer to the amount of study to be undertaken in particular areas in terms of years of full-time equivalent study. This is compatible with the measurement of student load in terms of equivalent full-time student load (EFTSL). In a traditional structure of eight units per year, one unit would be equivalent to one-eighth of a year of full-time equivalent study.

GRADUATE CAREER PROFILES

JULIE PARK
Secondary Education, Personal Development, Health and Physical Education (PDHPE) Teacher, St Catherine's School, Waverley

I believe that as a teacher, I have the capacity to inspire young people who will ultimately be the leaders of tomorrow. There are very few occupations that can truly say they’re in the position to inspire people every single day...but a teacher can. Schools are such a dynamic environment; they keep you on your toes at all times! We work on a two week cycle, meaning that the timetable changes from week to week. I teach a mixture of practical and theory lessons throughout the day and also have lunch-time and detention duties each week. As a PDHPE teacher I’ll also be involved with sports in the mornings or afternoons. I love the fact that every day is different.

NICKOLA PICK
Primary Education, Primary School Teacher, Carlingford West Public School

As a Year 6 teacher I’m responsible for teaching my students the school curriculum, as well as preparing, marking and assessing their work. I also supervise students on excursions and camps, communicate with parents, write reports and assist in other school-based activities such as debating and sports carnivals. The broad spectrum of personalities in my class is the best part of the job. Being responsible for thirty 12-year-olds provides a challenging and often entertaining work environment!

My students constantly keep me on my toes. No two days are ever the same, which means I’m never bored.

JUSTIN FIELD
Primary Education, Primary School Teacher, Dural Public School

In my role as a primary school teacher at Dural Public School, I work as a classroom teacher, mediator and I take on an almost endless list of other roles. My favourite classroom activities involve practical maths games, spelling, aerobics, sport and science experiments. It is really important to be creative with what you’re doing, the most boring topics can still be fun with some imagination. I really enjoy the interaction with my colleagues and the children. Being able to watch your students grow, develop and improve in their abilities throughout the year is really rewarding.

NICOLAS MATERAC
Secondary Education, Maths and Science Teacher, Northern Beaches Secondary College (Freshwater Campus)

I love sharing knowledge and what better place to do so than at a school? Some claim every day is different when you’re a teacher and they’re right, but patterns definitely emerge. I typically arrive at school at 8am and organise lessons for the day including photocopies, projectors, etc. Apart from the actual teaching, I also spend time planning ahead and sharing ideas with colleagues. Teaching has a big administrative side.

I write reports, communicate with parents and enter marks. School finishes after 3pm. Then I can catch up on admin, plan more lessons or go home. I’m still in the early years of my career, so at this point I have a lot to learn. Some of this learning comes from interacting with the students in class.
The Diploma in Languages is taken concurrently with any undergraduate or postgraduate coursework degree program at UTS. The course gives students the opportunity to learn a language and about the corresponding cultures and societies over six semesters.

Language Options

The course will engage students in creative and inspiring learning that enables them to build strong professional identities and future-focused graduate capabilities. Students will obtain or improve their language and socio-cultural skills and therefore increase their employability in the domestic and international marketplace.

Subjects

Students will study six Language and Culture subjects of either: Chinese, French, German, Italian, Japanese or Spanish. They will gain a communication tool and understandings of other cultures and societies. A range of entry levels cater for students with prior knowledge and for beginners. Students who have successfully completed the language at HSC level or equivalent may be able to begin at higher levels.

ENTRY PATHWAYS
If you don’t gain entry to your degree of choice, consider undertaking another study program and then reapply the following year as a non-current school leaver. At UTS, there are a number of pathways you can take to gain entry to your preferred course:

> Complete a TAFE Diploma
UTS offers some subject exemptions to students who apply to study at UTS after first completing a course at TAFE. Each exemption is assessed on an individual basis

> Commence study of a course with a lower ATAR requirement, either at UTS or another university, and apply to transfer to your preferred degree after a year. The marks you achieve in your first year of study will count towards your application and you may be eligible to receive credit recognition towards your final degree for some of the subjects you’ve studied
