LEAN SIX SIGMA GREEN BELT

PROGRAM DESCRIPTION

This is Stage 1 in the Lean Six Sigma Black Belt Suite of Courses.

The Lean Six Sigma Green Belt is a five-day training program to equip participants with the skills and knowledge to help facilitate and support an organisation’s improvement program. This program follows on from the Lean Six Sigma Foundations one-day course.

Green Belt training enables second-level development for business improvement facilitators and project managers.

Green Belt Certification is also available, giving formal recognition of a candidate’s ability to devise and execute a Project Improvement Plan.

ABOUT THE PRESENTERS

Alan Skinner is a lecturer in the Masters Course on Business Excellence at UTS in the School of Management. A trained Six Sigma Black Belt, Alan has over twenty years experience in organisational improvement projects.

Daniel Ionita is a trained Six Sigma Black Belt with significant experience in facilitating improvement projects, particularly in IT companies, such as Digital Equipment Corporation and Compaq.

I liked the practical approach. Rather than running through the complete methodology and tools, the focus on the most elements in order to successfully complete project.

Michele Addelio, Senior Consultant, TAL

WHAT IS BUSINESS PRACTICE?

UTS Business Practice blends academic rigour with applied learning to support emerging and current leaders as they face the challenges – and opportunities – in today’s corporate and entrepreneurial environment. We offer customised programs that deliver the skills, knowledge and networks required to develop leaders, nurture innovation and sustain competitiveness.

As part of UTS Business School, our initiatives range from events and executive education to MBA programs, including the new MBA in Entrepreneurship (MBAe). We also tailor programs to suit specific business needs, in areas such as leadership, organisational improvement, employee resilience and design-led innovation. We are Agile, Adaptive, Applied.
